Hector the Mentor!

Submitted by Nima Khakpoor

As a new graduate student in UofC, I may not use 10 dollar words! as much as previous students say about their supervisor but I can definitely see a gerat, open and honest communications environment with my supervisor Dr. Hector Siegler. In the first meeting Dr. Siegler and I talked about many things including non academic stuff. I feel that I can talk with him very easily and I find this feature very promising regarding my research.

Thanks Dr. Siegler! Ready to do my best!

A BIG THANKS to Dr. Marie-Claire Shanahan

Submitted by Rekha Dhawan

Dr. Shanahan has been a great support for me in the short time I know her. She listened instead of hearing which put me at ease that somebody understands what I am talking about. A BIG THANKS to you Dr. Shanahan for guiding me to explore which would move me towards my candidacy. Thanks again for being there.

Recognizing Dr. Gregor Wolbring
Submitted by Lucy Diep on Fri, 09/18/2015 - 2:06pm

I'd like to take this opportunity to recognize my supervisor, Dr. Gregor Wolbring, or “just Gregor” as he often corrects his students. What makes Gregor a great supervisor, a great teacher, and a great mentor is his continued efforts to go above and beyond for his graduate and undergraduate students (aka “The Wolb Pack”). Gregor puts his students at the forefront, is supportive, and pushes them to learn and grow while reminding us to laugh and have fun throughout the process. Gregor - Thank You, Thank You, Thank You for all that you do.
Dr Bradley Goodyear, amazing! Could not have asked for better!

I have known Dr Bradley Goodyear since a little time only. Still I would say, I could not have asked for a better supervisor! He is spontaneous, very supportive, generous, enthusiastic, detail oriented and the list goes on...He is one of a kind, to whom I can feel free to go for literally anything. Really lucky to have such a great supportive supervisor
Forever grateful to Dr. Ian Winchester

Dr. Winchester has been an amazing supervisor! Without his encouragement, support, and guidance, I never would have completed my PhD. It is such an honour to have been one of your grad students. I cannot thank you enough.

Thank you Dr. Ruhe!

Patient, caring, supportive, understanding, and positive are just a few words to describe him. He is well known world-wide as the expert in his field of research. But he is very knowledgeable and open. His leadership and supervision has led us in the SEDS Lab to succeed in different academic and personal development areas and has formed a research group that feels more like our second family. It has been truly an honor and a privilege knowing Dr. Guenther Ruhe and working under his supervision.

Dr. Wendy Smith is pretty awesome. "As Fe(26) sharpens Fe(26), so is my supervisor sharpening me!" (Proverbs 27:17, adapted) and "For she is like a refiner's fire and like fullers' soap." Ha ha sorry I'm weird like that, but thank you Wendy for all your effort, time, and patience!! :)

FACULTY OF GRADUATE STUDIES
Appreciation Comment for my Supervisor Dr. Nashaat N. Nassar

Submitted by Amjad El-Qanni

It is my great pleasure to write this appreciation comment for my supervisor Dr. Nashaat N. Nassar. Indeed, he is an extraordinary supervisor, a respected leader among his colleagues, and a kind and humble human being devoted to student success.

Dr. Nassar’s supervisory is very unique. He is a new faculty member and he supervises many graduate students; PhDs, masters, and interns. He is capable of meeting all of his students by regular meetings. He motivates, updates and supports the new ideas in his research projects, and thus, opening a door to creativity and ingenuity by inspiring students to think out of the box. He is a thoughtful, purposeful scholar who applies his knowledge, skills and experience to help students to learn. Highly regarded by his colleagues, he is generous and attentive in his collaboration with others. He presents the ideal traditions of open access community college education. He takes students as they are and helps them get where they meant to be.

Last but certainly not least, it has been a rewarding experience to have Dr. Nassar’s supervisory throughout my current graduate studies. He has earned a staggering amount of respect from all of his graduate students and I feel that I am writing on behalf of all of his students to express the outstanding support he has from all of us.
